

(At the end of the song, DON ALHAMBRA enters at the back. The Gondoliers and Contadine shrink from him, and gradually go off, much alarmed)

- GIUSEPPE      And now our lives are going to begin in real earnest! What's a bachelor? A mere nothing - he's a chrysalis. He can't be said to live - he exists.
- MARCO          What a delightful institution marriage is! Why have we wasted all this time? Why didn't we marry ten years ago?
- TESSA          Because you couldn't find anybody nice enough.
- GIANETTA      Because you were waiting for us.
- MARCO          I suppose that was the reason. We were waiting for you without knowing it.
(DON ALHAMBRA comes forward) Hallo!
- DON AL.        Good morning.
- GIUSEPPE      If this gentleman is an undertaker, it's a bad omen.
- DON AL.        Ceremony of some sort going on?
- GIUSEPPE      (aside) He is an undertaker! (Aloud) No - a little unimportant family gathering. Nothing in your line.
- DON AL.        Somebody's birthday, I suppose?
- GIANETTA      Yes, mine!
- TESSA          And mine!
- MARCO          And mine!
- GIUSEPPE      And mine!
- DON AL.        Curious coincidence! And how old may you all be?
- TESSA          It's a rude question - but about ten minutes.

DON AL. Remarkably fine children! But surely you are jesting?

TESSA In other words, we were married about ten minutes since.

DON AL. Married! You don't mean to say you are married?

MARCO Oh yes, we are married.

DON AL. What, both of you?

ALL All four of us.

DON AL. (aside) Bless my heart, how extremely awkward!

GIANETTA You don't mind, I suppose?

TESSA You were not thinking of either of us for yourself, I presume? Oh, Giuseppe, look at him - he was. He's heartbroken!

DON AL. Oh, no, I wasn't! I wasn't!

GIUSEPPE Now, my man (slapping him on the back), we don't want anything in your line to-day, and if your curiosity's satisfied - you can go!

DON AL. You mustn't call me your man. It's a liberty. I don't think you know who I am.

GIUSEPPE Not we, indeed! We are jolly gondoliers, the sons of Baptisto Palmieri, who led the last revolution. Republicans, heart and soul, we hold all men to be equal. As we abhor oppression, we abhor kings: as we detest vain-glory, we detest rank: as we despise effeminacy, we despise wealth. We are Venetian gondoliers - your equals in everything except our calling, and in that at once your masters and your servants.

DON AL. Bless my heart, how unfortunate! One of you may be Baptisto's son, for anything I know to the contrary; but the other is no less a personage than the only son of the late King of Barataria.

ALL What!

DON AL. And I trust - I trust it was that one who slapped me on the shoulder and called me his man!

GIUSEPPE One of us a king!

MARCO Not brothers!

TESSA The King of Barataria!

GIANETTA Well, who'd have thought it!

MARCO But which is it?

} Together

DON AL. What does it matter? As you are both Republicans, and hold kings in detestation, of course you'll abdicate at once. Good morning! (going)

GIA. & TESS. Oh, don't do that! (MARCO and GIUSEPPE stop him)

GIUSEPPE Well, as to that, of course, there are kings and kings. When I say that I detest kings, I mean I detest bad kings.

DON AL. I see. It's a delicate distinction.

GIUSEPPE Quite so. Now I can conceive a kind of king - an ideal king - the creature of my fancy, you know - who would be absolutely unobjectionable. A king, for instance, who would abolish taxes and make everything cheap, except gondolas -

The Gondoliers
(alarmed)
A mere nothing
? Why didn't

ing. Nothing

- MARCO           And give a great many free entertainments to the gondoliers -
- GIUSEPPE       And let off fireworks on the Grand Canal, and engage all the gondolas for the occasion -
- MARCO           And scramble money on the Rialto among the gondoliers.
- GIUSEPPE       Such a king would be a blessing to his people, and if I were a king, that is the sort of king I would be.
- MARCO           And so would I!
- DON AL.         Come, I'm glad to find your objections are not insuperable.
- MAR. & GIU.    Oh, they're not insuperable.
- GIA. & TESS.   No, they're not insuperable.
- GIUSEPPE       Besides, we are open to conviction.
- GIANETTA       Yes; they are open to conviction.
- TESSA          Oh! they've often been convicted.
- GIUSEPPE       Our views may have been hastily formed on insufficient grounds. They may be crude, ill-digested, erroneous. I've a very poor opinion of the politician who is not open to conviction.
- TESSA          (to GIANETTA) Oh, he's a fine fellow!
- GIANETTA       Yes, that's the sort of politician for my money!
- DON AL.         Then we'll consider it settled. Now, as the country is in a state of insurrection, it is absolutely necessary that you should assume the reins of Government at once; and, until it is ascertained which of you is to be king, I have arranged that you will reign jointly, so that no question can arise hereafter as to the validity of any of your acts.
- MARCO          As one individual?
- DON AL.         As one individual.
- GIUSEPPE       (linking himself with MARCO) Like this?
- DON AL.         Something like that.
- MARCO          And we may take our friends with us, and give them places about the Court?
- DON AL.         Undoubtedly. That's always done!
- MARCO          I'm convinced!
- GIUSEPPE       So am I!
- TESSA          Then the sooner we're off the better.
- GIANETTA       We'll just run home and pack up a few things (going) -
- DON AL.         Stop, stop - that won't do at all - ladies are not admitted.
- ALL             What!
- DON AL.         Not admitted. Not at present. Afterwards, perhaps. We'll see.

GIUSEPPE Why, you don't mean to say you are going to separate us from our wives?

DON AL. (aside) This is very awkward. (Aloud) Only for a short time - a few months. After all, what is a few months?

TESSA But we've only been married half an hour!
